Biographical note

Vincent E. Rossiter Sr. was born July 21, 1914 in Walthill, Nebraska, the son of Emmett and June (Hitchcock) Rossiter. His early education was in the public schools of Winnebago and Walthill, Nebraska and he graduated from St. Thomas Military Academy in St. Paul, Minnesota.

Rossiter began his career with a brief period as timekeeper and supervisor for the Works Progress Administration in 1932. He then spent a year as a bookkeeper for the First National Bank of Walthill, Nebraska (1933-1934) and then operated an insurance and real estate office (1934-1936) in Walthill. He then joined the Bank of Hartington, in Hartington, Nebraska as a bookkeeper and served the Bank of Hartington in various capacities for the rest of his life, succeeding his father as President in 1951. In 1978, he became Chairman of the Board and Chief Executive Officer, retaining these positions until his death in 1990.

Rossiter studied raw material economics, and was an active member of the National Organization for Raw Materials (NORM). NORM was the successor to the Raw Materials National Council (formed in the 1930s), founded by Carl H. Wilken. The organization's goal was to scientifically analyze the country's economic history to find out what caused the Great Depression. NORM continues today studying our national economic performance over time. In addition to being an active member of NORM, Rossiter wrote articles and publications on raw material economics and traveled the country educating rural and urban groups on this topic.

Rossiter was involved with many civic activities. A partial listing of positions he held includes President of the Hartington Junior Chamber of Commerce, President of the Senior Chamber of Commerce, Secretary and Director of the Cedar County Agricultural Society, Director of the National Catholic Rural Life Conference, Grand Knight of the Hartington Council of Knights of Columbus, President of the Holy Trinity Catholic Church Parish Council, Director of the Center for Rural Affairs, Director of the Small Farm Energy Project, Chairman of the Independent Bankers Association Agricultural Committee, President of the National Organization of Raw Materials (NORM), and consultant to the National Farmers Organization. Rossiter was also active in the Democratic Party on both the state and national levels.

Rossiter married Rhea Schmiedeskamp in 1935, and they had seven children. Rossiter died in 1990.

For further biographical information see files 62/06 and 63/05.

Collection description

This collection (1927-1991, undated) includes biographical materials, correspondence, newsletters, reports, speeches, writings, meeting materials, political materials, and videotapes. The records in this collection deal with Rossiter's agricultural activities, primarily his involvement with the National Organization for Raw Materials. Materials related to Rossiter's presentations, writings, and efforts during the 1980s farm crisis, and his writings and presentations about the circumstances which led up to it, are found throughout the collection. Other topics include his work for the National Farmers Organization, the Independent Bankers Association and the Nebraska Democratic Party. Correspondents include Homer Ayres, J. James Exon, Bob Kerrey, Harry E. Rash, Oren Lee Staley, Butch Swaim, and Edward Zorinsky. There is substantial correspondence of Arnold E. Paulson, Charles Walters, and Carl H. Wilken.

Related materials

For related collections, see the Center for Rural Affairs Records (MS-413) and the Charles Walters Papers (MS-588). Walters was a journalist who focused on raw material economics.

Organization

The collection is listed chronologically with biographical materials in the front.
